MEMORANDUM FOR: National Intelligence Officer for Economics
Deputy Director, Office of African and Latin American Analysis

FROM: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT: NSC re Central America Economic Policy, 24 May 1985

1. Bill Martin credited us with a major contribution to his Central America briefing. I was sitting next to him when he passed this note to me which each of you can keep in your archives.

2. The result of the meeting was that each agency should look at practical things we can do to bring new ideas, stimulate new economic activity, etc., in Central America. The President emphasized what the private sector has done here and everywhere else with multiple examples. MacPherson then described what AID is doing in that direction.
